REMINISCENSES OF OUR PIONEER DAYS

Gleanings From the Records Left By Men Who Laid the Foundation of Our County.

FIRST MACADAM STREETS LAID

Congregational Church at Pescadero Is Dedicated---Dance Quarrel Ends With Murder.

On the 1st of November, 1867, the Town Trustees made a good beginning for a syetem of improved streets for the town. Plans had been prepared for the macadamising of 1000 feet of the streets in the eastern part of the town and bids for the work called for, The only bidder for the work was Owen McGarvey, whose price was $1.65 per front foot. This price the Trustees considered too high and the bid was rejected, though they did not desire to see the improvement dropped. Desiring to push the work as rapidly as possible and not wishing to wait to secure other bids, the Trustees began negotiations with McGarvey for a modification of his price. This was finally secured and a contract entered into with him to do the work for $7.50 per lineal foot.

About the time the contract with McGarvey was let the Trustees decided to levy a general tax on the property of the city for the purpose of further prosecuting the work of placing the streets in at least passable condition, and fixed the rate for this purpose at $1 on each $100. It was generally prophesied that the Railroad Company, which was one of the largest taxpayers, would resist the tax and thus delay the contemplated improvements. In this the croakers found themselves mistaken and were treated to something of a surprise by the corporation. Instead of the expected fight against the tax the Railroad Company was the the first to settle with the tax collector and even went the city one better by offering a further donation towards the street work. The company had a large pile of gravel lying at the side of its tracks on the old school house lots which it was estimated was worth at least $100. This gravel the company offered to the town as a donation, with the only proviso that the Trustees provide for the expense of spreading it upon the streets. Of course the Trustees accepted the offer, and the howlers were compelled to take a back set. This gravel was used to make the first real improvement of what is now known as Broadway, the street being graveled from the bridge to the railroad crossing.

On Sunday, December 3d, the Congregational Church at Pescadero was dedicated, the dedicatory sermon being preached by Rev. J. H. Warren, who was assisted in the service by Rev. H. Cumming. Before the commencement of the services the treasurer of the society announced that the entire cost of the building had been $1700, and stated that of this amount some $1100 had beee contributed by friends in San Francisco. After this announcement had bren made a collection was taken, and within a few moments an additional $215 was pledged.

On the 11th of December, after a long and painful illness, Mrs. Lucy Schofield, wife of the editor of the Gazette, died in Redwood City. A true and consistent Christian, Mrs. Schofield had always been among the foremost workers of the town in the dispensation of aid to the needy and comfort to the suffering and was highly regarded as the friend of all classes. The funeral services were held from the Congregational Church, of which she was a member, and were attended by members of Bay View Lodge, I. O. O. F., the deceased having been a member of the Rebekah degree. Only the husband was left to survive her, their two children having preceeded her to the Great Beyond.

Miles M. Dewey, one of the pioneer residents of the county was murdered on Saturday morning, December 7th, shortly after midnight, as the outcome of an insignificant quarrel during the previous evening at a dance. A party had been given at the school house near the Twelve-mile Farm station on the railroad Friday evening, during which some little difficulty occurred between Dewey and John Castelas which was temporarily settled through the interference of friends. Castelas was not satisfied to drop the trouble in this manner but insisted upon a renewal of the quarrel, and the two left the room, They had no sooner reached the open air than they clinched, but Dewey almost immediately broke his hold and started on a run up the road. Although there were a number of persons who knew of the fight outside, none of them followed Dewey to ascertain his condition, and no more was seen of him until the next morning, when his dead body was discovered a short distance from the school house with a ghastly wound in the left side made with a knife which had penetrated the heart. As soon as this discovery was reposted to the Sheriff, Castelas was arrested and placed in jail in this city.

At the stated meeting of the Redwood City Masonic Loege held December 7th officers for the coming year were elected as follows: T. W. Lathrop, worshipful master; S. M. Cook, senior warden; A. Teague; junior warden; John Ames, treasurer; H. N. Nutting, secretary.

At the meeting of Bay View Lodge, I. O. O. F., on the evening of January 8th, 1868, officers for the term were installed as follows: G. W. Fox, noble grand; Curtis Baird, vice grand; H. N. Nutting, recording secretary; B. F. Cooper, treasurer; J. L. Snow, warden; W. Holder, conductor; R. S. Westbrook and George Wentworth, supporters to noble grand; S. H. Snyder and C. E. Benjamin, supporters to vice grand; A. E. Ackerson, inside guard; B. A. Rankin, outside guard. At that time the lodge had a membership of 75 and was reputed to be one of the most prosperous lodges of the Order outside of San Francisco.

That speculation in San Mateo county lands was a profitable business and could sometimes be carried on with a very small capital is shown by a sale reported in February, 1868. At that time Joshua Leavitt sold to Lester P. Cooley, of San Francisco, a tract of 400 acres near Ravenswood for $32,000. Leavitt had purchased the land a year previous to this sale for $14,000, and even at that figure had secured the place upon credit for one year. Thus it will be seen that although he had actually invested little if any money, he cleaned up the snug little sum of $18,000 on his speculation. In addition to this profit he also secured the benefit from a good season's crop.

HONORED BY HIS ASSOCIATES

Fraternal and Business Men Unite In Tribute to Claus Hadler.

The following resolutions relative to the death of Claus Hadler were adopted this week:

To the Chiefs of Metamora Tribe, No. 24, Impd. O. R. M.: Your committee on memorial respectfully report as follows:

IN MEMORIAM.

The swift arrow of the dark hunter has again sped upon its way and found lodgment in the heart of one of our best loved chiefs. Brother Claus Hadler, whom we all mourn, was an earnest and faithful Red Man, his generous heart always beating in unison with his extended hand.

"Freedom's never fading light,
Friendship's luster pure and bright,
Charity's effulgence blest,"
Ever filled that faithful breast."

He was born in Germany seventy-three great suns ago, coming at an early age to this land of promise and freedom and after engaging in business for a short time in San Francisco he settled in these hunting grounds, finding some rough places along the trail but meeting with final success.

He was adopted into this tribe on the 5th sun of snow moon, G. S. D., 392, common era, February 5, 1863; was chosen as junior sagamore in cold moon 393, advanced to senior in buck moon 393 and raised to the position of sachem on the 13th sun of traveling moon 393, every position being filled with credit to himself and honor to the order.

He crossed the dark river suddenly in the early run of the 19th sun of this moon and was escorted to his resting place on the 21st sun by our brothers and there bidden a last fraternal farewell.

May the Great Spirit assuage the sorrow of the loved ones he has left behind and may they feel that the members of Metamora Tribe sympathize with them most deeply and will be ever ready to extend a helping hand in memory of him

"Who, with a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
Has wandered to an unknown land."

We recommend that the council house be darkened for the space of thirty suns; that this report be spread in full upon the tribunal record and a copy thereof be forwarded to his daughter.

Fraternally submitted in F. F. and C. George W. Lovie, J. J. Rogers, George West, committee.

The following memorial has been adopted by the directors of the San Mateo County Building and Loan Association:

IN MEMORIAM.

The sudden death of Director Claus Hadler of this association occurred so unexpectedly that it shocked the entire community. We were unprepared for it and can scarcely realize that he will meet with us no more; that his life work is done, and that all we have left is the pleasant memories of our associations with him.

Mr. Hadler was one of the original board of directors of this association, being elected thereto at the first meeting of the shareholders, held May 15, 1890, and has served as chairman of the security committee continuously since that date, acting with promptness, fairness and good judgment in every case and attending almost every meeting ever held by the board of directors.

He was a careful business man, a good friend, a genial companion, thoroughly honest, always conservative and earnest in his devotion to the interest of this association. We therefore mourn his loss as a citizen, a friend and associate and extend our hearfelt sympathy to his bereaved daughter and other relatives in this hour of affliction, trusting that they will be comforted by the knowledge that the entire community recognizes their loss and responds with its sympathy.

Sequoia Students Debate.

The last high school debate of the semester occurred at the assembly hall last Wednesday afternoon and dealt with the subject: "Resolved, That the United States Should Subsidize Her Merchant Marine". The The speakers were Ray Griffin and Robert Kelly, sophmores, while the negative was handled by Lisle Winter and Richard Davidson, seniors. Miss Beeger, Dr. McCracken and Prof. Benson acted as judges and in rendering a decision for the negative, complimented all the young men on the able argument which had been presented. Other numbers on the program were: "Talk On Old Christmas Customs in England" by miss Florence Leak; "Talk on the Social Side of large and Small High Schools,", by Miss Mardell Robinson; two excellent musical selections, a claronet solo by Clifton Woodhams, and a piano solo by Miss Jessie Smith.

Choked to Death

is commonly said of babies who have died of the croup. How unnecessary this is. No child ever had the croup without having a cold or cough at the start. If you will stop the first symptom of the cough with Ballard's Horehound Syrup there is no danger whatever of croup. Sold by Ryan's drug store.

MANY OBSERVANCES OF HOLIDAY TIME

Services at Many Local Churches Mark Advent of Greatest Day of the Year.

CHRISTMAS JOYS FOR THE TOTS

Children of Sunday Schools Entertained and Gift Making is Rule Among Young and Old.

Seldom in the history of Redwood City has there been a more universal observance of the Christmas time than that which marked the week just passed. Among the churches the day was marked by services of a specially impressive nature. At many of the homes family reunions were held, while quiet but earnest good cheer generally marked the day.

AT THE CATHOLIC CHURGH

The Christmas services at Mount Carmel church were unusually fine. The sanctuary was beautifully decorated and the whole tone of the ritual was in keeping with the Christmas spirit. There was a large attendance at the morning masses and a great number observed the day, by receiving Holy Communion. Solemn High Mass was celebrated at 10:30 o'clock. Very Rev. H. Ayrinhac, president of St. Patrick's seminary at Menlo Park was the celebrant; Father Godon was deacon; Father Gilgan sub deacon; Father Sullivan, master of ceremonies; Masters John Curry and Roy McAuliffe, acolytes, and Master Frank Griffin, thurifer. The sermon by Father Gilgan was a gem of English composition, perfect in delivery. He held his audience spell bound for half an hour picturing the significance of Christmas Day. Philosophy and poetry mingled in his illustrations of the mysteries of the incarnation. The music was exceptionally good and appropriate. The offertory solo by Miss Irene DeMartini was classical and the soprano part of the mass sustained by Miss Bernhart was the feature of the musical program. Miss Wolfenden deserves special praise for her rendering of the organ parts on such short notice; Mrs. M. E. Hanson, alto, and Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. Holden sopranos, added very much to the expression of the choir, and Mr. O. M. Carrington sustained his reputation as a director.

SANTA CLAUS' ANNUAL VISIT.

The Christmas tree, which has been an annual feature at the Congregational church for many years, attracted an unusually large number of children and friends to the church on Christmas Eve. Awaiting the arrival of Santa Claus the expectant children feasted their eyes on the beautiful tree, rich in a goodly supply of gifts and dazzling in its splendor of glistening ornaments and electric lights, while an enjoyable program was offered. The various numbers were:

Christ Was Once a Little Baby.....Chorus by the School
Recitation—Two Little Stockings.....Louise Bettin
The Good Will Band (a concert recitation).....Younger children
The Shepherds (dialogue and song), Wesley Locker, Jack Thompson, Louis Behrens, Lou Uhlenberg.
Duet, Claire Dodge and Annie Bomberg.

This was followed by the coming of the good old Santa who after an explanation of his late arrival, distributed his gifts with a lavish hand.

EXERCISES AT ST. PETER'S

The annual Christmas festival of St. Peter's Sunday school was held at the church on Thursday evening. The edifice had been tastefully decorated by the ladies of the congregation with garlands of evergreens and hollyberries. A beautifully trimmed Christmas tree filled the upper left corner of the church. The exercises were opened with a prayer by Rev. Austin Chinn of Menlo Park, followed by reading of the lesson by Mr. George Golden, the young student in charge, after which there were recitations by the members of the different classes and singing of carols, which were very creditably rendered under the direction of Miss Gertrude Beeger, Miss Mura Wilcox presided at the organ. The Rev. Mr. Chinn then told the children that his sermon would be very brief, containing but four words, "Merry Christmas" to all." This was followed by the distribution of the presents, each child receiving a gift and a stocking filled with candy. The exercises closed with the Benediction and the singing of the Doxology.

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL

Friday night, the Sunday school of the Methodist church gave their regular Christmas entertainment, and the recitations and songs given by the children were delightfully rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by the parents and friends attending. At the conclusion of the program, the presents were distributed by two boys and two girls, all members of the Sunday school being remembered with sacks of candy, and little cards bearing Christmas messages of love and good cheer.

Gas in the Kitchen

A gas company lays no pretension to being a philanthropic institution, and yet in its struggle to develop its business, the gas industry has lightened the labor and increased the comfort of millions of women.

The New Rork World, in the course of an editorial on the "Golden Age," said: "The kitchen maid of the present day knows more than the fine ladies of Versailles knew when the Louises were kings, and has more comforts and conveniences."

Today the kitchen without a gas range in a community where gas is obtainable is a rarity, and is deemed very antique and primitive by the marriageable generation of young women.

Nearly all women who live in cities will admit, upon reflection, that the gas stove is the greatest single domestic blessing that has become theirs in the last quarter of a century.

Women sufficiently fortunate to know what it is to be free from the intolerable summer superheat of the coal range, and from the well-founded terror of the gasolene stove. It is also their privilege to enjoy the great economy of the gas-burning stove, its immense labor-saving advantage and its cleanliness of operation.

The time was reached some years ago when gas in the kitchen came within the financial reach of every family in the city.

A Happy New Year to all.

May the coming year be one of peace. happiness and prosperity to all. May each realize the fullest fruition of his hopes and ambitions. May the end of the year find each better, both morally and materially.

Promises 0f the New Year.

If in the past you have not done your full duty by your home town, now is the time to turn over anew leaf. If you have failed to give local enterprises the support which of right should be theirs, now is the time for good resolutions. If in the past you have failed to give the local merchant your patronage and support, now is the time to resolve that in the near future your money will be kept at home and go for the advancement of the town with the prosperity of which you are identified. And when these good resolutions are made now is the time to determine that they shall not be broken.

Another revolution has been made by the rapidly turning wheel offf time. Another year, with its joys and its sorrows, its successes and failures its trials and dissapointments, has been added to our lives The page has been turned and the record sealed and it were better for all that it should remain so. But little is to be gained by brooding over the past it is the future that all aremost concerned with.

Tnat the year upno whicch we enter otday will be one of general prosperity and happiness to us all,both as a community and a Nation there seems to be but little doubt. From a material point of view there seems every evidence of promise. Business enterprises of all classes are reviving, and there is every reason to believe that the country is entering upon a seison of renewedprosp rity.

There seems to be equally good reas onfora hopeful view of the social and moral conditions. As the world advances the people are becoming more tolerant of their neighbors, more considerate of their shortcomings, more charitable to their needs Vice and its train of evils isbeing drivenfrom the land, and the public atmosphere is being purified of its taint.

Locally we have special reason to congratulate ourselves upon the out look for thenew year. Never before in the history of San Mateo county has there been a brighter prospect. Nature gives every indication of her willingness to assist us in oura desires, and the prospect of bounteousreturns to the husbandman were never brighter. People of his city are awakening to their opportunities, and within the year there is every indication that material advancement will be made, that old enterprises will be enlarged andnew ones inaugurated. Thus will the capitalist be assured of abundantreturns for his investment while the laborer will find ample means ofproviding for his needs and comforts.

With these glorious prospects,this should indeed be a Happy New Year to usall.

TEACHERS IN SESSION

County Instructors Meet With State Teachers Association.

The teachers institute of this county in conjunction with the institutes of several other counties, under the auspices of the California Teachers Association, took place in San Francisco, during the past week. The principal meetings were held in Dreamland Pavilion, where more than two thousand teachers were assembled on several occisions. Among the principal lecturers was Dr. L. H. Gulick, who spoke on children's plays. He showed clearly that by play the best qualities of true manhood and womanhood were inculcated. He made all feel the necessity of providing more ample play grounds so that the instincts of childhood may have full opportunity to naturally affect the tendencies of the individual child. The crusade for play grounds is fast spreading over the land. Already there is a play ground association in San Francisco.

As, at the institute last year, the subject of looking after the physical ailments of children was discussed by Dr. W. H. Snow of the StateBoard offHealth. He gave statistics to prove that much of the neglect by children in school was caused by the impediments or weaknesses of the pupils, who might be greatly and easily relieved if examined and cared for, by a competent physician, just as they are doing now in many of the modern schools. Judge Frank J. Murasky of the Juvenile Court of San Francisco told of what is being done to save the incorrigibles from entire ruin.

Mrs. Elinor B. Carlisle of the Board of Education; of Berkeley easily proved herself the most able woman lecturer. She told in strong language just what everybody thought a school trustee ought to do. One of the principal ideas that she suggested was that the teachers and trustees ought to meet frequently and familiarize themselves with the problems of school life so that a better solution might be arrived at.

Dr. David Barrow who had just returned from a ten years supervision of the schools of the Philippines gave mmost interesting talks on his work in which he made it plain that the course of our government, in teaching the Filipinos, is affecting the entire far east, since all the other nations are now following in our footsteps. Just now there are more than a thousand American teachers in the Philippines and their work has done more to appease the restlessness of the natives than all the solders and sailors.

Supt. Alfred Roncovieri of San Francisco made a strong plea for more trade schools, such as he visited during his trip to Europe. His remarks were received with applause. The great lecturer of the meeting was Or. Geo.E. Vincent whose talks were highly pleasing and of the greatest value to the teachers. He spoke rapidly and with great force on the duty of the schools, and selfishness.

An interesting feature of the in stitute was a banquet which took plac at the Tuts-Znkand restaurant on Wednesday. Several of San Mateo's teachers were present and among them Supt. Roy W. Cloud who gave a good account of himself when called upon. At the banquet Harr Wagner who is the promoter of Montara, was the master of ceremonies. The question of Teachers" Annuities was discussed at length and it was decided that a fight must be made all along the line to make such a reality, not alone for the benefit of those who have devoted their lives to the work but for the sake of the children who are often obliged to suffer great loss by being taught by some teacher who has outlived his usefulness, but it still allowed to continue teaching, because no body of school officers have the cruely to cast him upon the sympathy of the harsh, cold world, in his old age.

The town and country teachers tenure of position was considered in the hope that a teacher might dream of the day when she might rest secure in her position, just as long as she did the very best work. If that was the law now many a good teacher could do much more for those entrusted to her care than she does. and furthermore it would make school authorities much more careful in the hiring of teachers. It would do more good than annuities. It would make the teachers life agree able during the period when life is worth living.

As a whole the institute was very instructive and besides it gave the country teachers an enjoyable visit to the city.

Socially, it was not as pleasant as one at home usually is. It was hard to keep track of your friends and there was not much opportunity to make new friends. The next institute will be in San Mateo County, if it is not held with the National Educational Association which meets in San Francisco next summer.

Need Not Buy Supplementary Books.

STCRAMENTO, December 28.—An order sent out today by State Superintendent of Schools Edward Hyatt to all teachers in the State maintains that they have no legal right to force pupils to purchase supplementary books or other materials to be used in schools which are not prescribed for in the regular course.

Hyatt's ruling is as follows:

"That teachers should require their pupils or encourage them to purchase such things as supplementary books, notebooks, color boxes or other school supplies is not the intent of the law.

"The only thing that can be legally demanded of them is the regularly adopted textbooks, at the regularly adopt d prices. If anything further than this be needed, it should be furnished by the school at public expense.

"While manny parents may easily buy everything of this kind that is suggested, it is a trial to the poor and a humiliation to their children to be nagged for the lack of a two-bit piece. The things that are necessary should be bought from the school fund."

Respect Public Rights.

The following letter is self explanitory:

Dec. 16th, 1909.

Editor of the Times-Gazette, Dear Sir:—

I presume it would be impossible to awaken any sentiment on the part of the sort of people, who have had many desirable picnic locations closed to them on account of the natural slackness which admits of throwing pie-plates, cans and pepers about the grounds instead of replacing them in their baskets. It would, doubtless be equally hopeless to endeavor eo influence those who drop bottles and other glass-ware in the roads, to the imminent peril of horses, but the law against the dumping of rubbish in the roads ought to prevent lazy house-holders using the road for a public dump. From Searsville to the foot of the grade, every bush conceals more or less imperfectly, the discarded boots, baby-buggies, wash-boilers and other odds and ends of the neighborhood. It is even possible to recognize familiar property presumably destroyed or which we have paid the hired man for destroying. The bushes refusing to hold any more fruit, it is becoming the custom to dump trash along the flat between the grade and town. If the energy of our citizens, finds no other outlet, you will doubtless, awaken some morning to find erected in Courthouse square a tin-can memorial to some of your public spirited authorities.

Sincerely yours,

ALBERT . McBKEE.

Annoyed Aged Man.

John O'Hearn, aged 23, a resident of San Mateo, and a clerk inBaker & Hamilton's store in San Francisco, was brought into Justice J. T. Wallace's Court in this city during the week on a charge of hitting N. J. Brittan, aged 70, in the back of the neck with a paper wad. O'Hearn admitted his guilt, and up on his promise to refrain from troubling the old man in the future, he was allowedl go and did not have to spend Chrismtas in the County jail.

Accordnig to the story of Brittan, the offense occured on a train pulling out of San Francisco Friday evening. The case would have been tried in San Mateo County but Brittan has had trouble with District Attorney Bullock of that county and feared that the charge would be dismissed. Accordingly he took advantage of the law which permits the filing of a complaint at any terminal on the line on which the offense occurs and secured a warrant from Judge Wallace in this city.

Brittan says that he goes in and out of San Franciscoo every day on a commutation ticket. He has been bothered by other commuters he says, who fire paper wads at him, rolled newspapers and other missiles.

No reason is known here for the attitude of the victim's fellow townspeople.—San Jose Mercury.

The Menlo Park saloon cases were deferred by Judge Hannon to next Tuesday. It is reported that an agreement has been reached between the attornys for both the prosecution and the defense whereby Barney Burke, one of th saloon proprietors, will be tried before Judge Hannon next Tuesday without a jury. It is realized that further jury trials would be more than likely to result in disagreement by the juries, and it is only bythe method suggested that the matter can be taken to the higher courts and a decision reached as to the validity of the law prohibiting the sale of liquor within a mile and a half of the Stanford campus.
